

Christina Corley

Senior Vice President

Commercial and International Markets

Christina M. Corley is senior vice president of commercial and international markets for CDW. Corley is responsible for all aspects of the corporate sales force and for CDW's international growth platform, including CDW Canada and CDW UK, CDW's U.K.-based technology solutions provider with locations in Europe, the Middle East, Africa and Asia. Corley is responsible for ensuring the company is continuing to build and fully leverage its global capabilities while delivering a consistent customer experience.

Prior to joining CDW in 2011 as senior vice president, corporate sales, Corley was president and chief operating officer of Zones, where she also served as executive vice president of operations and as president of Corporate PC Source (CPCS), a wholly owned subsidiary. Prior to its acquisition by Zones in 2003, Corley was the chief executive officer and majority owner of CPCS and with her partners grew it to a $100 million company. Corley began her career in sales and marketing holding various positions at IBM, Dataflex, and VisionTek, a PC hardware company.

Corley earned a bachelor's degree in finance from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and a master's degree in business administration concentrating on management and strategy from the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University. She serves on the board of directors for the Boys and Girls Club of Chicago.
