

Therese Fauerbach

Therese Fauerbach is a highly regarded business leader and entrepreneur with an extensive track record in international management and consulting.

As chief executive officer of The Northridge Group, Fauerbach leads a management consulting services organization specializing in end-to-end customer experience solutions and cost transformation initiatives with an emphasis on deep data analytics and business process redesign. Our team of consultants is comprised of more than 200 professional problem solvers committed to providing real-world, cost effective and executable solutions that drive profitability. The Northridge Group clients include Fortune 100 enterprises and notable state and federal government agencies.

Through a deep understanding of analytics and honest discussion, Therese creates simplified and attainable business solutions for organizations with complex operational problems. She advises C-level executives across the Fortune 100 and has, on occasion, acted as an interim executive. Under her leadership, The Northridge Group has operated profitably each year since its inception.

Therese serves on several boards including The Goodman Theater's Business Council and The Cradle, one of the foremost adoption agencies in the country. She is a former chair on the board for The Chicago Network, a collaborative organization of Chicago's most distinguished professional women dedicated to empowering relationships for women leaders that enable them to increase their impact on their organizations and the community at large. Therese previously served as board chair for the Glenkirk Foundation.

Therese holds a Master of Business Administration from The Lake Forest Graduate School of Management and a Bachelor of Arts degree in accounting from St. Norbert College.

Therese, her husband, Jim, and their two children live in Northbrook, Illinois.
