Cheryl Lulias serves as the President & Executive Director of Medical Home Network (MHN), a not-for-profit collaborative that has reshaped how care is delivered and practiced in the safety net. In 2009, the Comer Family Foundation created MHN with the aim of uniting health systems and provider groups around a common vision and goals to provide better care and improve the health of the vulnerable communities they serve.

Cheryl also serves as CEO of the MHN ACO (Accountable Care Network), the first Medicaid ACO in Illinois. The MHN ACO is owned and governed by leaders from 12 health care organizations and is the most connected group of disparate healthcare entities in the state. The ACO is a virtually integrated delivery system using an innovative team-based model of care that helps reduce costs and improve care.

Prior to her role with MHN, Cheryl served as the Vice President of Network Management for WellCare Health Plans of IL, a provider of Medicaid and Medicare HMO products. She also has held leadership positions at several academic and community hospital systems in IL, IN and NY.

She received her undergraduate degree from the University of Michigan and a Master of Public Administration from the University of Illinois.
